AIG Employee Benefit SolutionsSM Announces the Availability of New Dental Products, Features and Enhancements

Insurers add to one of the market's broadest product portfolios

HOUSTON, June 4, 2007 — The AIG Employee Benefit Solutions group announces the availability of several new dental products and features, as well as existing product enhancements, which are underwritten by AIG Life Insurance Company and American International Life Assurance Company of New York, subsidiaries of American International Group, Inc (AIG).

New dental products include AIG Group High-Low Choice DentalSM which allows employees to select from two plan options that best meet their benefit need and ability to pay, and AIG Group Scheduled Reimbursement DentalSM, which offers employers a low cost alternative that helps keep plan costs stable from year-to-year. New dental features that can be added to many of the plans include AIG MaxBuilderSM, a maximum carry forward benefit which allows a portion of each member's base annual maximum to be carried over and saved in an account for use in future years, and a new bundled benefit called AIG SmileMakerSM that offers supplemental dental coverage on selected orthodontic, implant, cosmetic or TMJ procedures.

"AIG Employee Benefit Solutions is consistently developing new and innovative products and features that offer more choice and flexibility for employers to better attract and retain quality employees," said Michael Witwer, senior vice president marketing and product development. "These new dental products and features, as well as the enhancements to existing products, are evidence of our ongoing commitment to bring new solutions to our customers in the employee benefits market."
